BULLETIN
Berlin, Oct. 18.—(U)—Authorized sources said today that "nothing is known" here about any foiling of a German attempt to invade England by British air attacks on transports in channel harbors, as reported by British authorities.

BULLETIN
London, Oct. 18.—(P)—The day of the now reported invasion smashing was marked by a German announcement that Reichs Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering personally scouted London the night of Sept. 15 at the controls of a Junkers plane and by a new German shelling of Dover which injured 11 persons.

By the Associated Press

It was the first official British admission that Adolf Hitler had personally scouted London the night of Sept. 15 at the controls of a Junkers plane and by a new German shelling of Dover which injured 11 persons.

The Admiralty declared that the German flotilla, of 12 destroyers, escaped into the Nazi held naval base of Brest, on the French coast, as the fading light of day.

G.O.P. NOMINEE IN STRONGHOLD OF OPPOSITION

Willkie, in Speech in Front of Missouri Capitol, Denounces Use of Political Patronage and Power in Effort to Gain Votes

SHUNS PREPARED TEXT

New York, Oct. 18.—(P)—Republican National Chairman Joseph W. Martin Jr. said today that the Democratic national committee had demanded campaign contributions from "more than a million federal employees" and thus had resorted to a "cold-blooded, ruthless bluff."

Martin referred specifically to a story in the New York Times today in which it was asserted that Edward J. Flynn, Democratic national chairman, had informed campaign managers and government workers and others could contribute to campaign chests and yet remain within the letter of the Hatch "clean-politics" and the corrupt practices laws.

New York, Oct. 18.—(P)—Edward J. Flynn, Democratic national chairman, said "the letter speaks for itself" when asked today to comment upon instructions sent by him to Democratic campaign workers in regard to their operations under the Hatch act.

Aboard Willkie Train in Missouri, Oct. 18.—(P)—Wendell L. Willkie, standing before a statue of Thomas Jefferson, today called himself a political "amateur" at taking relief money and forcing men to vote because the government fulfills a social obligation in keeping them from starving.

"Wendell Willkie will never trade bread for votes from those who can least afford to demand independence," the Republican nominee told a crowd in front of the Missouri capitol at Jefferson City.

Willkie said he could never "engage in duplicity, in poses in the creation of imaginary emergencies."

Attack Is Made On Chinese Terminus Of The Burma Highway

BULLETIN
Hongkong, Oct. 18.—(P)—The headquarters of the Japanese south China fleet announced today that Japanese naval aircraft today attacked Kunning, southwestern China terminus of the newly reopened Burma road. It was the first Japanese action connected with the road reopening.

Under the imminent threat of bombardment from close-at-hand Japanese air bases in French Indo-China, supplies for Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's war machine started rolling in the early morning today after a three-month closure in a British appeasement gesture toward Japan.

Hongkong, Oct. 18.—(P)—Re-opening of this British crown colony to the passage of petroleum products and railway material to China has been postponed indefinitely, an official announcement said today.

Colonial Secretary N. L. Smith had announced yesterday that the Hongkong road would be re-opened to these goods at midnight last night simultaneously with the re-opening of the Burma road, "backdoor" supply route for Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's Chinese armies.

By the Associated Press
Istanbul, Turkey, Oct. 18.—Preparations for an important conference of British diplomatic representatives in the Balkan countries were reported afoot here today as the Turkish radio voiced new defiance to the Axis powers and their aspirations in the east.

Word of the impending conference was circulated following the arrival in Istanbul of George W. Rendel, British minister to Bulgaria.

The British ministers to Yugoslavia and Greece were expected to join Rendel and Sir Hugh Knatchbull-Hugessen, the British ambassador to Turkey, in the next few days.

FIVE POLITICAL TALKS PLANNED BY PRESIDENT

Chief Executive, Charging There Has Been System of Falsification of Facts in Campaign, Announces Intention to Reply in Future Speeches

MORE TOURS BOOKED

Washington, Oct. 18.—(U)—President Roosevelt said today there had been a system of falsification of fact by the opposition in the presidential campaign and that he intended to reply in five speeches.

He read a statement to a press conference which said that he did not believe the falsification was unwarranted, but that it was deliberate.

Therefore, Mr. Roosevelt said, he had decided to point out to the American people what those falsifications were. But, in response to a question, he told reporters they would have to wait for the addresses to learn what he considered to be the misrepresentations.

There is a possibility, the Democratic nominee said, that one of the five addresses, scheduled for Washington on October 30, might be shifted to Baltimore.

Newsman told him that the change would put him in Baltimore the same day that Wendell L. Willkie is scheduled to speak there.

Philadelphia, Oct. 18.—(P)—A 34-year-old widower and a barber's wife were stabbed to death today in a downstairs room of the man's home.

STIMSON REVEALS PROGRAM

Secretary of War Announces That One Man In Every Twenty of the 16,654,000 Who Registered Wednesday Probably Will Be Called to the Colors Within Next Eight Months; First Contingent to Be Summoned November 18

ADEQUATE HOUSING FACILITIES ASSURED

Washington, Oct. 18.—(P)—The War Department plans to have the first 800,000 selective service trainees in the army by June 15.

The program, announced by Secretary of War Stimson, means, in effect, that one man in every twenty of the 16,654,000 who registered Wednesday probably will be called to the colors within the next eight months.

In addition Stimson disclosed yesterday that the remaining units of the National Guard, numbering some 130,000 men, would be ordered up for duty by early February. Approximately 95,000 Guardsmen already have been mobilized and are undergoing training.

The conscription trainee schedule contained one definite surprise—word that 18,000 of the men called up would be assigned directly to the elite corps of modern mechanized armies—the armored divisions.

Secretary Stimson stated that adequate housing facilities would be available for all men inducted into service. By Dec. 15, he said, most of the cantonments and other projects now under construction would be completed. The camps were planned to accommodate a total of 1,400,000.

Outlining plans for the first 800,000 conscription trainees, Stimson said the initial contingent of 20,000 would be summoned on or about November 18. The schedule thereafter: December 2, 60,000; January 3, 60,000; January 15, 90,000; February 10, 150,000; March 5, 200,000; and June 15, 200,000.

FORMER CORY MAN REPORTED SLAIN IN WEST

Body of Blair Barnes Is Found With Five Star Wounds Near Chelsea, Okla., Two Weeks After Leaving By Auto for Home in California

TWO ARE IN CUSTODY

Chelsea, Okla., Oct. 18.—(P)—The body of a former Cory, Pa. man apparently slain about ten days ago was found yesterday near an abandoned coal pit six miles east of here.

County Attorney D. M. Battendorf said an electric light bill in the pocket of the man's overcoat bore the name of Blair L. Barnes, of Long Beach, Calif.

A telephone check with Long Beach authorities disclosed, the county attorney said, that Barnes was due to return home a week ago after an automobile trip east. His wife and child are at Long Beach.

Mrs. Barnes said her husband left Cory, Pa., his former home, two weeks ago today in his motor car. Tulsa police found the abandoned car October 8. Barnes' wife said the 37-year-old man was an unemployed truck driver.

Slashes in the overcoat and a sweater indicated the man had been stabbed several times in the chest. Marks on the ground, Battendorf said, showed that the body had been dragged about 200 yards off a side road.

President to Make Four Political Speeches Between Now and Election, Republican Opponent Pursues Strenuous Coast to Coast Tour

McNARY-WALLACE BUSY
By the Associated Press
With the election only 18 days away signs multiplied today that both Democratic and Republican parties were ready to open an intensive vote drive that would carry through to the close of the historic 1940 campaign.

President Roosevelt will make four political speeches, it was announced yesterday, the first to be made next Wednesday. They will be in Philadelphia, New York, Cleveland and either Baltimore or Washington.

Meanwhile, his Republican opponent, Wendell L. Willkie, pursued the strenuous campaign which has taken him from coast to coast, showing every intention of maintaining its unflagging pace until the eve of election.

As the campaign neared the weekend which will send it into its home stretch, Willkie and his running mate, Senator Charles McNary of Oregon, both made pleas for Missouri's 15 electoral votes while Henry A. Wallace, the Democratic vice presidential nominee, spoke in Ohio.

In a speech prepared for Jefferson City, Willkie contended that "under the new deal private capital has been scared out of productive enterprise."

"The record shows that the volume of new productive capital issued for the construction or purchase of new plants and equipment (Turn to Page Thirteen)

Hollywood, Oct. 18.—(P)—His attorney, his widow and one of his daughters will share in the estate of Tom Mix, 60-year-old pioneer screen cowboy, killed in an Arizona automobile accident last week.

To the attorney, Ivan D. Parker, will go Mix's "faithful horse and pal, Tony," as well as his riding equipment, guns, trophies and apparel, announcement of the will disclosed.

The rest of the actor's estate is to be divided equally between Mable Hubbell Mix, the widow, and Thomasina Mix Matthews, 19. The latter will receive $500 a month until she is 25, then her part of the principal.

Specifically cut off are Mix's four former wives and another daughter, Ruth Mix Knight.

Pennsylvania To Be Visited BY CANDIDATES
Harrisburg, Oct. 18.—(P)—Pennsylvania's political campaign will reach a climax next week with the visit of both candidates for the presidency, President Roosevelt and Wendell L. Willkie, ten days before the voters decide which side will get the state's big bloc of 36 electoral votes.

President Roosevelt, seeking a third term, will make the first of four "strictly political" speeches October 23 in Convention Hall, Philadelphia, where Willkie received the Republican nomination in April. (Turn to Page Thirteen)

FRENCH PURGE OF JEWS LAUNCHED

Vichy, France, Oct. 18.—(P)—France followed the lead of most of Europe today, establishing strict anti-Jewish measures for the first time in its history.

Persons with three Jewish grandparents or with two Jewish grandparents and married to a Jew were excluded from all public administrations, from the press, from holding an officer's rank in any branch of the armed forces, from working in the law courts in any other capacity than as a lawyer and from the colonial administration.

Unofficial estimates placed the number of Jewish citizens of France and the colonies at slightly more than 400,000. Estimates of the number of foreign Jews in France were slightly higher.

The only exceptions made to the rulings of the Vichy government were for Jews who were decorated either in the wars of 1914 or 1939 or for Jews who rendered distinguished services in literary, artistic or scientific work.

AT THE COLUMBIA THEATRE SATURDAY AND SUNDAY

"I'm Still Alive"

Dealing with the romance between a daring Hollywood stunt-fyer and an imperious screen star, RKO Radio's "I'm Still Alive" features Kent Taylor and Linda Hayes in what is said to be an unusually exciting picture.

Several spectacular stunts, with behind-the-scenes glimpses of how they are made, add to the interest of the offering, which discloses for the first time on the screen the amazing lives of the men who furnish the thrills for motion pictures.

Howard da Silva and Ralph Morgan have important roles in the production, which was directed by Irving Reis.

"Law and Order"

In an action-packed drama of the lawless frontier, Johnny Mack Brown heads a brilliant cast to provide thrilling entertainment in Universal's "Law and Order," which opens Saturday and Sunday at the Columbia Theatre.

From the opening scene, Brown keeps the excitement at a feverish pitch in battles with renegades trying to hold their way over a community of justice-seeking ranchers.

Nell O'Day, Texas born and bred, displays riding talent and typical "wind-blown" beauty of an exclusively western heroine. Fuzzy Knight grabs off comedy honors and shares singing laurels with newcomer, James Dodd. The latter's original song, "Oklahoma's Oke With Me," and two other new numbers are tuneful hit material.

"CITY FOR CONQUEST" At the Library Theatre Friday and Saturday

A dynamic film about love in a dynamic city will make its debut at the Library Theatre Friday and Saturday, when Warner Bros. new picture "City for Conquest" opens.

The film, starring James Cagney and Ann Sheridan, tells the story of two people in love who are determined to climb out of New York's slums and make a success of their lives. But they discover that success is only to be had by sacrificing everything they set their hearts on. It is a story as powerful and wild as the city itself.

In the supporting cast are such screen favorites as Frank Craven, Donald Crisp, Frank McHugh and a newcomer to the screen right from the Broadway stage, Arthur Kennedy.

John Wexley wrote the screen play from the popular novel by Aben Kandel. Anatole Litvak, who directed a long list of screen hits, keeps his score perfect with this story of the mighty metropolis—"City for Conquest."

Boston Critics Recommend Hearty Laughs to Be Found in Play "Return Engagement"

Local theatre-goers as well as personal friends of the playwright, have been anxiously awaiting reviews of Lawrence Riley's "Return Engagement," now playing in Boston and scheduled to move into New York in about another week. General reports from Boston indicate that audiences have been pleased with the show and critics have, as a whole, written favorably of the production.

Elliott Norton, writing in the Boston Post, says of it:

Joseph M. Galtons and W. Horace Schmidlapp brought a new play, entitled "Return Engagement," to their Copley Theatre last night. This one is a farce, by that Lawrence Riley who wrote "Personal Appearance," and this one, too, despite weaknesses, is a good one. All these weaknesses, however, can be eliminated and, since this is a brand new play, there is every reason to expect that they will be eliminated. Meanwhile and nevertheless, there is a great deal of hard and hearty laughter in the show and much of it is uproarious. As a matter of fact, if comparisons help any, it's a better show as it stands than "George Washington Slept Here" was at its opening performance in Boston.

Playwright Riley is concerned with the summer theatre and its people; or rather, with the smaller, less secure and more comical life at the Copley Theatre last night as the second in the series of Copley productions, is a venomous idyll of the Summer Theatre. At least that branch of the Summer Theatre which flourishes upon the largesse from the social dame who owns a country place in the vicinity, and which elevates the Drama in a renovated coach-house where the box office is just a cubicle to house the telephone.

Mr. Riley obviously knows his way around the Summer Theatre because he has put in most of the familiar type characters, together with what and how they say and do. To this extent "Return Engagement" is a carefully drafted bit of stage business. Missing, however, are both the absorbing yarn and the fresh, spontaneous with that made "Personal Appearance" the success it was.

In an evening edition, another critic has written:

Lawrence Riley, who authored that acidly plausible comedy of stage folk known as "Personal Appearance," has done another with the show business as background. "Return Engagement" which began

PAST OFFICERS AT MEETING OF WARREN MOOSE

At the semi-monthly meeting of Warren Lodge, Loyal Order of Moose, held Wednesday evening, Old Timers and Past Governors' Night was observed, with 162 members in attendance. The chairs were filled by various past governors of the lodge.

Announcement was made at the previous meeting, held October 2, that a national patriotic membership campaign was under way and that each member sponsoring a new member would receive from membership enrollment department a beautiful American flag, size 3 by 5 feet. There were several members present at this week's meeting to receive their flags, which were presented in an inspiring ceremony.

This ceremony was made especially impressive because of the fact that Wednesday was conscription registration day and many of those present had registered prior to the meeting.

Following the meeting a lunch was served by the committee in charge.

Rita also told police that "a noise downstairs" awakened her about 6 o'clock this morning. She added:

"I heard my father's voice and the voices of about two other men. There was the sound of a door slam and a scuffle. Then I went back to sleep."

The child discovered the bodies when she got up about an hour later.

of Tidouate, as the third member. Attached to this board are Warren M. Stone as government appeal agent, Richard P. Lott as legal assistant for registrants and Dr. J. F. Crane as medical examiner.

Both boards will have permanent offices on the third floor, rear, at the court house, it was stated today. Office personnel has been selected, although the names were withheld today pending their final approval.

The first task of the draft boards will be to take from the list of those who registered on Wednesday all cards of non-residents. These will be sent to Harrisburg for distribution to the proper districts.

Cards of residents of the county then will be mixed indiscriminately and numbered serially. Of the total number registered in the county, 2,240 are in the territory covered by local board No. 1 and 2,221 in that of local board No. 2. The cards of each board will be numbered separately.

The next task of the boards will be to prepare for sending out questionnaires to all registrants. It is expected that this will be done in about ten days or two weeks.

Order numbers will be given to each of the registrants when the national draft lottery is held, in Washington, D. C. As each number is drawn in Washington, the card in the office of each draft board bearing that serial number will be given an order number, starting with No. 1. Those who receive order numbers will then be told to report for examination and possible draft. This will be the first time the registrants will be required to appear before the draft boards.

It has been pointed out that only the number of men authorized by congress can be called in the first draft and that on the basis of the number of registrants, Warren county's quota probably will not exceed 50.

It was stated today that the draft boards have received reports of a few persons in the county who are alleged to have refused to register Wednesday. It was pointed out that any person who for any reason failed to register should contact his draft board immediately and register. Failure to register is a federal offense, punishable by fine and imprisonment.

The registration in Warren county, which totaled 4,461, was about 1,500 under the number estimated by county commissioners.

★AMERICAN★ Barbershop★ Quartets!

By RAY PEACOCK
AP Feature Service Writer

FAVORITE among definitions for a quartet is one guy who thinks the other three can't sing. Lamentably, he too often is right, but it's a free country.

History doesn't record, but very likely there was a good quartet going before the Mayflower was out of swimming distance from the Old Country. It may be that the origin of the Barbershop Quartet is not strictly American, but nowhere has it been given such a high degree of recognition.

It was through and because of the Barbershop Quartet, for instance, that the whistler won deserving recognition. It is impossible to do a good workmanlike job on "My Wild Irish Rose" without one. Also among a quartet's needs are a guy who can carry the melody (preferably one who knows the words), another who can make pleasing zoom-zoom sounds, and a fourth who is ready to help the tenor or melody man in case they mix up "My Gal Sal" with "I Wonder What Became Of Sally."

Some authorities hold that five is an excellent number for a quartet. It has the advantage of being able to drown out the guy that nobody invited along. Others swear by six, particularly for the nice droopy songs which need sturdy lungs.

Aside from the sheer, defiant joy of singing, the Barbershop Quartet offers also a sporting angle. Should you choose to harmonize at, say, the southwest corner of Main Street and Broad at 3 a.m., and the cop comes along, it makes a good betting proposition.

He may call for the paddy wagon—or make a splendid fifth who knows all the words to "Call Me Back, Pal O' Mine."

THE ROAD TO SHANI LUN
by Rita Moffat Hanson

YESTERDAY: Lynn Britton has escaped from the two men who were taking her to the Prince of Shani Lun, who had in effect bought her in marriage. But now that she is with Americans in a town on China's Yellow River, even Americans she knew well in the States, she cannot quite down her interest in her captors—good, wise Shaddock, and even some of the British. Her friend Peggy, and even Sam, to whom she had been engaged, seem a little tame to her.

Chapter 19
Temu Again

"LYNN seems to be that kind of person if she's the heroine I've been hearing about all afternoon," Sam interposed.

"What became of your brother?" Peggy asked.

"I suppose he's lost, too," said Lynn ambiguously.

O t h e r s interrupted them. Lynn's story had spread and en- larged and became a sensation among the foreigners in Lanfou. Added to this sensation had come rumors of international import.

A strange airplane was maneu- vering about the territory illegal- ly. One of the new low-wing monoplane that was reported capable of piercing the strato- sphere had dived down occasion- ally for observation. The first ru- mor made it a Japanese plane, another, a Russian, a third, a British, and a fourth had it that Chinese banditry had taken to the air.

The Chinese government had rushed in a couple of scouting ships to investigate. Agents of other nations were reported to have chartered private Chinese planes to do the same. Word came that British India had made ar- rangements to land aircraft on the eastern border of Tibet if necessary. There was talk of a Mohammedan uprising that had already begun in the north.

"It's like dancing while Nero fiddles," cried little Mrs. Wallace, shivering with happy excitement.

The clever man who was con- ducting the tourist party led Lynn to the floor. "Here's hoping some- thing will happen," he said gloomily. "Does my party thank me for keeping them safe? They do not, even the old maids."

Lynn laughed. "You mean least of all the old maids."

"I've been tempted to hire river pirates to board this vessel to night."

"I daresay a little suffering and hardship would do your tourists good," Lynn agreed.

"And ruin me."

A tap on the gentleman's shoul- der turned Lynn over to one of the Chinese aviators, the best dancer on the boat, she soon dis- covered. He was a very good- looking young man with large, in- telligent eyes, perfect teeth, and a serious smile. Lynn surmised that the American college girl had done well in marrying him. She thought of Temu Darin and his master and asked abruptly, "Have you ever seen the Prince of Shani Lun?"

The young man shook his head. "No, I haven't. My government considers him a hard person to deal with. I've met his official representative, Temu Darin."

Lynn lost a step and recovered herself in a moment. "What do you think of Temu Darin?"

"He's an ace flying man; has the best luck in the air of any- body I ever heard of. The fellows say it's due to that horseshoe scar on his cheek. Aviators are a su- perstitious lot."

She smiled. "Superstition's like magic. There's both white and black. They danced a while in silence."

The Chinese tailor had made Lynn a gorgeous and striking dress of blue peony brocade on a rose-leaf pink. She was the belle of the party and on the arm of the best dancer on the boat. The orchestra played a new and entic- ing tango. And, yet, she felt strangely lonely and restless in a feminine way. Lonely enough to cry for no reason at all.

Sudden Panic

HAD there been too much time for thinking since she arrived in Lanfou? She could not dismiss Temu Darin from the recesses of her mind. He, seemingly, had shown her the way to the region of the higher dimensions of space, and regardless of where she went or where she stayed, she still felt his disturbing presence at her side.

Then, too, not once since she had been in Asia had the dream of the lilac tree recurred to her. She felt the need of its emotional power which kept her true to some inner guidance.

They had stopped near the rail- ing as the music ceased. Sudden- ly, Lynn turned pale and caught the railing for support. Then the color flooded her face and her chin went up. Mr. Wallace had stepped through the door from the boat saloon. He was not alone.

"Temu Darin!" breathed Lynn. Tall and straight in a dinner jack- et and black tie, he did not look about the assemblage; but with his eyes straight ahead, followed Mr. Wallace across the deck to meet the plant specialist's wife.

The Chinese aviator hastily ex- cused himself to Lynn and went over to him. The aviator-eyed people on deck had grown quiet and turned to stare discreetly.

Lynn could hear Mr. Wallace explaining in suppressed excite- ment. Temu Darin was an envoy from the Prince of Shani Lun; he had come downriver in a pri- vate junk on his way to Nanking. The host and one or two persons standing near were introduced.

The orchestra struck up again and gave Temu a moment's free- dom. He turned and looked across at Lynn as if he had known at the time just where she stood. Their eyes held for a moment, straight and steady. Then Mrs. Wallace required his attention and after a moment he asked her to dance.

Sam came to Lynn for the dance, but she had sunk into a chair. She couldn't talk; she couldn't rise. He sat down beside her.

"Who's the battle-scarred hero?" he asked. Lynn shrugged her shoulders. Sam soon became slightly sentimental about meet- ing her in this unexpected way, and he tried to pry an admission from her that she was sorry she had thrown him over. In a light- unthinking manner she countered his suggestions and by the time the music ceased, she had re- gained her self-possession.

Mrs. Wallace brought Temu over and introduced him to Lynn. "I've told him your story," Mrs. Wallace added, her eyes shining with content.

"I think you are a very lucky girl to escape those bandits as you did," he said promptly.

"Luck seems to follow some people," she reminded him bland- ly.

His eyes flashed their amuse- ment. "Yes indeed Miss Britton. Your horoscope was read by our greatest astrologers when the Prince first learned that you were to be his—" Lynn trembled for a moment; he looked reckless enough to say anything. "Guest" he finished. "May I have this dance?"

She hesitated for a moment, then slipped into his embrace. Lightly, expertly, they circled the floor in silence. Lynn knew for the first time what it meant to dance with a partner whose mind and spirit as well as his body complemented hers.

She became rhythm, losing all sense of identity and the passing of time. He smiled into her eyes and quietly thanked her, then ac- knowledged a presentation to Peggy.

As he danced with her, Lynn accepted Sam's second invitation. "You're dancing like an angel to- night," he told her.

"You mean a goddess."

He glanced at her shining eyes, her glowing cheeks. "I guess I do," he said huskily.

Quiet Conflict

TEMU had the next dance with Lynn. Afterwards, he drew her to the prow of the boat where various couples had sought seclu- sion. Every eye followed them, these two tall, handsome, excit- ing creatures.

"Won't we make ourselves con- spicuous by our absence?" she protested faintly.

"We have to talk and we can't seem to dance and talk."

Seated in a secluded corner, Lynn became objective-minded again. "You have courage," she said. "With a word I could have you put in chains or whatever it is they do with kidnappers in China."

"You'd have given the word when you first told your story if you'd wished me put in chains."

She withdrew her shoulder from its contact with his arm. "I've been a little sap."

"I'm of your people, Tara Lynn. You couldn't cause me harm any more than I could you. Some- thing in the cadence of his low voice shook her nerves."

"Why did you come here?" she demanded.

"To ask you to finish our jour- ney. The Prince is becoming im- patient."

She clenched her hands. "I hate your Prince. My answer to him is no, no, and always no!" She paused, struck by a thought and looked into his face. "Does he threaten to kill you, Temu, if you do not succeed in bringing me?"

"He would cut out my heart."

Yet, he smiled as he said it.

"What did he say when I es- caped being added to his harem?"

Temu grinned. "You are his harem, Tara Lynn. According to tradition you incarnated previ- ously as two manifestations of the Tara, the green and the white; once, a king's daughter of Nepal, the other, a Chinese princess. He married you both; this time you come as one."

Lynn gave a short laugh. "At least, I'm becoming concentrated."

"You are all women in one."

She turned and looked at him. "Are you speaking for yourself or for the Prince?"

"True," he sighed, moving away a trifle. "I must not forget the Prince."

Lynn rose angrily. "You've asked me to go to Delun and I've given my answer. It is no!"

"I beg your pardon," he said stiffly, rising with her. "I won't mention the subject again."

"You are offended now," he murmured. "I don't mean to of- fend you. You are real. You are genuine. But these sinister white men who become tyrants in the colored parts of the world; I have heard some dreadful stories."

"I am sorry," he replied.

She gave him a swift look. "I see you are not; you are only an- gry." And she asked impishly, "Do you sometimes wish you could slap my face?"

The orchestra struck up a new melody. "Let's dance," he said abruptly, and they swung along to the waxed floor of the deck.

His arm tightened. "Don't think," it seemed to say. "Just feel that I am holding you close this minute." She obeyed. As the music died, she whispered, "Good night, Temu. I'm not dancing with you again."

chairman, and Ralph E. Sires, ex- ecutive director of the Young Re- publican county committee. Mr. Wade then presented the even- ing's speakers, W. M. Stone and Addison White.

Both speakers received tumult- uous applause as they scored the legislative and personal failures of the policies of the past eight years.

"The liberal platform of 1932 was discarded," Mr. Stone declared, "in favor of a program of contin- ued security whose only aim was the regimentation of the people."

Mr. White pointed to the serious threat to democratic institutions that lies in the third term attempt and called for the election of Wen- dell Willkie, "not as a Republican, nor as a Democrat, but as an American."

The meeting closed with the showing of the Republican com- mittee's sound motion pictures and the crowd adjourned to the I. O. O. F. dining room where refresh- ments were served.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S CHURCH MEETING FINE RESPONSE

The first public service of "The Church of Tomorrow" last Sun- day evening in the First Presby- terian church aroused frank en- thusiasm among all who attended, and this Sunday will be in charge of Joe Cannon, with Virgil Bras- tington leading in prayer and Joanne Whitehill reading the scrip- ture lesson. There will also be a brief address on "Influence."

"This organized church for young people exclusively is not du- plicated anywhere," the minister said, "and there is nothing even resembling it in this part of the country. Not only will the young people conduct their own services, but they will be organized as a complete church, holding offices to correspond to offices held in the church by adults. After the ser- vice this Sunday evening, the first congregational meeting will be held, for the purpose of electing boards of Elders and Trustees and perfecting the organization."

Last Sunday's service began at seven o'clock and closed promptly at 7:45; attendants are urged to be prompt. The junior choir, which will be a feature at each service, will sing early in the program, and Thomas Conrad will sing a baritone solo.

The public is invited, but front seats are reserved for young people and the arrangements are entirely in their hands.

POLITICAL FORUM

REPUBLICAN

The spirit and methods of the Roosevelt Administration have, for over seven years, been those of dictatorial one-man rule.

It has steadily sought to centralize political power and to concentrate it increasingly in the President. The President has become possessed of vast powers, granted under the fiction of emergency, and now, jealously guarded even though the "emergencies" under which they were assumed have admittedly passed.

No other President in the history of the United States has ever remotely had such powers. It would have been a fine thing, and a reassuring thing, if this particular president had gone some day to Congress and said, "Take back the power you granted me to deal with last year's emergency."

This has never happened once in seven years. Not only has it never happened once, but on the contrary Mr. Roosevelt has fought with great determination at every turn to hold every shred of power that Congress has ever given him, no matter how remote the emergency that created it. His appetite for power has grown, is still growing steadily.

He has sought to make his will supreme by ruthlessly crushing all opposition even within his own party. In creating ONE-MAN BIG GOVERNMENT he has employed un-American methods such as political "purges," bulldozing the Courts, ignoring Congress or whipping it into rubber-stamp submission, slickly evading Constitutional limitations imposed by the people, and substituting rule-by-law. He has thereby destroyed unity in government, except that alien unity which comes from the dictatorial exercise of vast power vested in one man alone.

In the philosophy of royalty, the belief that true unity in government is achieved through one-man rule has a twin; namely, the belief that the one man is indispensable. Roosevelt now seeks to import into America the complete philosophy of reactionary political royalism by having the electorate approve of the doctrine of the indispensability of one man... himself... by giving him a third term.

American-style unity in government consists of genuine cooperation among the ablest men available. Such unity is a cardinal necessity of adequate preparedness for national defense. Its seven year record proves that such unity cannot be achieved under the Roosevelt Administration, and believes all of its current prayers and promises in the name of Unity.

For over seven years the Roosevelt Administration has fostered disunity, class-hate and factionalism; preached and practiced the demoralizing philosophy of centralized governmental paternalism designed for wet-nursing a soft, timorous people; discouraged the spirit underlying individual initiative, the outstanding characteristic of America; impaired the sense of responsibility among citizens. States and local communities; and steadily cultivated a mood of defeatism—namely, discontent with the present, fear for the future.

This mood and the spirit which fosters it must be uprooted from the American scene. If America wishes adequate preparedness in the present crisis she must have a new spirit, a better morale, a genuine unity among the people. The Roosevelt Administration is unfit for such leadership.

DEMOCRAT

TUNE IN ON JAY COOKE
We urge you, at the earliest possible opportunity, to listen to Mr. Jay Cooke, Republican candidate for Senator from the State of Pennsylvania. Mr. Jay Cooke broadcasts once a week on the radio. He also gets about the state a bit. Listen to him once. Then listen to him again. Listen to him just as often as you can stand it. Do you think that's strange advice, coming from a Democrat? If you have not yet heard the redoubtable Mr. Cooke, you may well do so. After one hearing, the reasons will be apparent.

We have listened to political campaigns over a period of some twenty years. Yes, even longer; for one of our childhood memories is that of seeing the gigantic, grin-topped figure of William Howard Taft standing on a rough board platform and making a campaign speech in 1912. We have listened to the breast-beaters of the Republican party during the foul regime of Warren G. Harding; the fatuous regime of Calvin Coolidge; the incompetent regime of the Great Engineer. We have had to hold our nose pretty tight at times. But we have managed to survive, even in Pennsylvania.

But the political oratory of Mr. Jay Cooke, presently aspiring to the Senate of these United States from the great State of Pennsylvania, is absolute tops—or rather, bottoms—when it comes to indelicate scurrility. If you can listen to it for half an hour and still retain your most recent meal, you have indeed a strong set of innards.

Most political candidates try to furnish their speeches with at least a framework of fact upon which to spread the soft slush of their insinuations. Mr. Cooke is an exception. He goes the whole hog from the minute he opens his mouth till the minute he shuts it. He makes no bones about it. Every speech is one long, uninterrupted denunciation from start to finish; a denunciation undocumented, unsupported by any semblance of the truth, uninterrupted by any modicum of reason. It is sheer, outright, unmitigated political filth. It is the stuff that comes out of garbage cans; or the minds that are the mental equivalent. Mr. Cooke, as a denunciator—Mr. Cooke, as a calumniator—Mr. Cooke, as a feather—namely, discontent with the present, fear for the future.

This mood and the spirit which fosters it must be uprooted from the American scene. If America wishes adequate preparedness in the present crisis she must have a new spirit, a better morale, a genuine unity among the people. The Roosevelt Administration is unfit for such leadership.

spread of political mustard gas—reaches a level which is positively historic.

To be sure, Candidate Cooke is following the best Pennsylvania Republican tradition. Behind him stretches a long line of hard-bitten, self-seeking Republican politicians, whose sole purpose has been control of the State; a line which has extended nearly fifty years with the exception only of the term of Governor Earle. Behind him stand the sinister figures of Quay, of Penrose, of Crum; men whose political morality has been one of the crying stench of the entire American political scene. The Republican party in Pennsylvania has shown repeatedly that it will stop at nothing to gain an election. It will institute phony criminal attacks. It will resort to chicanery of the lowest and most obvious kind. Mr. Cooke is their logical descendant, and he is just a notch superior to them all.

Again we Democrats urge you decent citizens to listen to Mr. Cooke. Then vote for him if you can!

Group singing of favorite old songs, led by P. J. Flinerty, with C. S. Greenwood at the piano, and instrumental music played by the North Warren Troubadours completed the formal program.

A delicious buffet lunch was served. The lunch was prepared by three chefs from CCO Camp ANF-13, recruited for the occasion by Harry Peterson, chairman of the refreshments committee.

John Hodorowski, Pete Androski and Steve Apeare were the chefs. A variety of social pastimes and an impromptu concert by a brass band composed of local musicians Chet Sadler, Stewart Hoffman, Maurice Slater, John Shultz, Chet Sprangle and Emil Stanat provided entertainment throughout the remainder of the evening.

The committee of Legionnaires who arranged the reception and program included John Cochran, W. V. Christian and Chris Yutze.

Strong Nursery Crew Faces Blue And White Team Here Tomorrow

After two weeks of a room batant service four Dagon regu- lais will see from action to- morrow afternoon when the Blue and White coaches at the Coach Joe Hartman's Franklin eleven. Tomorrow's game will be the complete League common on the field since two weeks ago tonight when it started against Oil City. Returning after being forced out of action against Jamestown by the New York age limit ruling will be Co-captain Joe Tamburine quarterback Paul Zemanski right halfback and Tackles Vic Huff- man and Bill Spry. Floyd Landers is expected to start at left half with R. G. "Spinner" Johnson at the fullback spot. Bob Slag Brown and Don Wolfe will be at the flanks with Co-captain Walt Fiedrichs and George Niederer at the guard- and Jim Harding at center. Although the Red and Black has been beaten by Greenville, Quon City and Sharpville Hart- man eleven boasts wins over Meadville 6-0 and Corry 7-13. Beating in mind that Meadville de- feated Erie Teen conqueror of Strong Vincent by a score of 14- 7 and that Kane's Wolves who trounced the Dragons by a score of 6-0 had only a one touchdown margin over Corry. Franklin looks exceptionally strong.

SPORT SCATTERINGS

The McKeesport Olympics were tough enough before they signed 'Whitey' Fowle and Johnny Belie, but what they'll be with that pair of huskies is likely to be too much. Warren fans who have seen the St. Rosalia Preps in action will remember that Whitey can put you eye out with a football at forty yards and that he can really tear around the ends. Belie should have had a red uniform on, so much time did he spend in the jacket backfield. As if that weren't enough to worry the locals, the Olympics have made doubly certain they won't get wallowed by signing Bill Hodder of the Appalachian Teachers, who is six feet one, 195 pounds and faster than greased lightning. With 'Whitey' chucking them, Belie, Hodder and Kelly going out to get em and 'Bull' Kates throwing his weight into the line, it looks like a very full sixty minutes for the Warren pros on Sunday afternoon.

But, before we devour that bit of the weekend's grid menu we have more than just an entire to take care of tomorrow afternoon when the Red and Black of Franklin exhibits what it took to stop the Meadville Bulldogs. To your agent the top-sided defeat of the Corry Beavers by the Nursery is even more impressive than the Hartman outfit's upset at Meadville. Corry is plenty tough this year, as the Kane Wolves will be glad to testify, and demonstrated it by running up 16 first downs against the Postmen and all but stopping the great Hillman on his knees. One thing is certain here are going to be many forward passes flying around the coryne tomorrow, and those Diagon backs had better keep their heads up and keep the Nursery ends from shipping around behind them. Nursery, in this case, doesn't refer to any babies.

That was a peculiar happening last week in the Purdue-Ohio State game, and we suppose no matter what the Buckeyes do for the balance of the season, all that will be remembered is that an ineligible man kicked the field goal that beat the Boilemakers. Just as no one in members that Roy Ruegels was one of the greatest centers the game has ever produced, but everyone knows he ran the wrong way one week on New Year's Day. There should be few repercussions from the unlucky New Year's Day. There should be few repercussions from the affair of last Saturday, for conference coaches have agreed that each will be responsible for the legality of substitutions and no one is so biased as to assume Coach Francis Schmidt knew that Maag was ille- gally substituted. Incidentally an Associated Press dispatch arriving at this desk this morning states that Schmidt admits Charley played illegally that he takes full responsibility for the mistake and that he apologizes publicly.

YEARS AGO IN SPORT
October 18 1920—The independent football game between Johnson- burg and Warren Sunday on the South Side field was nip and tuck all the way, with neither side scoring until the last five minutes of play when a forward pass Art O'Leary to Harry Connors resulted in a local touchdown. The locals scored the goal and the game ended with the Warren Indians on top 7-0-0.
October 18, 1930—The averages for the Industrial bowling leagues have just been completed in the first four weeks by the secretary Chuck Watt, and reveal that Curly Fischer leads the Class A loop with an average of 191. Mel Johnson is second with 186 and Lee Allen third with 185. In the Class B circuit Ed Lowrey's average of 186 is high ten points more than Jap Lynch's 176. Forrest Rapp and Hatch are tied for third with 172.

The price tag on Kirby Higbe of the Blue is exactly $150,000 of which a least $100,000 must be cash. He line Columbia had better not make any defensive mistake against those rabbit backs from Georgia tomorrow. Max Baer picked up today to start rehearsal for his forthcoming Broadway show.

Alabama Tennessee is the mystery team of the South eastern Conference but Tennessee off its decisive defeat of Duke looks like the Sherlock Holmes to provide all the answers. The Crimson Tide reputedly exception- ally strong hasn't played a major role yet and this vote, therefore goes to Tennessee.
Notre Dame Carnegie Tech ten as of the past past have been tough meat for the Irish. This is another year and it will be a major surprise if Carnegie keeps the score within reasonable bounds. Cornell Syracuse Syracuse with a sophomore lead in Sal Mirabito may give the Big Red some trouble but Cornell is so well drilled and strikes with such devastating quickness that a Syracuse victory seems impossible.
Michigan Illinois Bob Zuppke canny coach of the Illini engineer- ed one of 1939's greatest upsets in this game. History can and does repeat but so far as this corner is concerned, we'll take Harmon Evaschewski and Company. Washington State Stanford Only the corn can help Stanford Texas Aggie Texas Christian Slugging along with the Aggies Colgate Duke Duke has had time to get over the Tennessee set back and rates the nod in this one.
Penn Princeton Penn may not be quite so good as the 50-7 score against Yale indicates but should get past this one especially since the tigers seem to be having fine trouble Penn Pitt Fordham The Panthers have developed surprisingly well and this should be fewer contest- ed all the way but Fordham is the choice.
Columbia-Georgia Out of the hat Columbia De-emphas- ized in spurs But Seymour and Anderson will be back and the nod goes to Yale.
Harvard-Army With Johnny Hatch an uncertain Army starter the choice is Harvard Ohio State-Minnesota It begins to look as though Ohio State was overrated Minnesota Wisconsin Northwestern Har- vard huddled Ohio State, De Cor- riont Clavson et al. on safe enough in his one although Wis- consin's passes may spell trouble Still Northwestern Indiana Iowa Bo McMillin's luck is going to change soon or later but in the meantime Iowa Kansas Nebraska No need to look past Nebraska Missouri Iowa State Looks like too much Christmas for Iowa State.

danelles to Egypt and the Suez they would find Turkey a tougher nut to crack than the Netherlands, Belgium or France.

The commentator recalled the resistance the Turks offered the British in the Dardanelles in the World War and added:

"There is no doubt our resistance this time will be even stronger. Just as we depend on our army, so our terrain also has a special advantage for us. For instance motorized troops can only move with difficulty here—and the Axis powers want a short war, not a long one."

G. O. P. Nominee In

Stronghold of Opposition

they do not become mice instead of men."

The Republican nominee made no reference to a previously prepared text.

Saying he was a believer in the constitutional system, the candidate added that he would "never by stealth, by indirection seek to destroy the power" of the legislative and judicial branches of government.

"I know nothing about drafting pamphlets that seek to smear," he continued. "I know nothing about making up pictures that seek to divide us into classes and racial groups."

"Won't you all—like me or dislike me—proclaim to everybody you see: Here is a political amateur."

Wilkie paid tribute to Jefferson, saying the country now should follow two of his "eternal principles"—"a limitation on the power and continuation in office of the chief executive."

Jefferson believed, too, Wilkie declared, that there should be no racial or religious prejudice.

Behind Wilkie, in nearly every window of the gray stone capitol were pictures of President Roosevelt. The administration is Democratic.

Barnes left here by auto two weeks ago for his Long Beach, Calif., home after a week's visit with his parents, Councilman and Mrs. Fred L. Barnes.

He was a graduate of Corry high school, manager of a laundry and a truck driver here until about two years ago. He moved to Long Beach with his wife and a four-year-old child.

On the following day, the Republican nominee, touring the country in a special train, will make rear platform speeches at Erie at noon and at Sharon at 3:15 p. m. On October 25 he will swing across southern New York and turn southward for a rear-platform appearance at Scranton at 6:10 p. m. and a major speech at Wilkes-Barre at 8 p. m.

President Roosevelt's "political" speaking engagements were announced at New York last night by Edward J. Flynn, Democratic national chairman, who said that Mr. Roosevelt, in accepting the third nomination at Chicago, reserved the right to make such addresses "if it became necessary to keep the record straight."

DIES UNDER TRAIN
Shenandoah, Oct. 18.—(P)—Slipping from a freight car on which he was riding, Henry Little, 21, of Shenandoah, fell under the wheels last night and was decapitated along the Lehigh Valley railroad tracks about a mile and a half from Shenandoah. He is survived by his parents, four brothers and six sisters.

SUICIDES IN JAIL
Minersville, Oct. 18.—(P)—Thomas Knotsky, 48, arrested yesterday on a morals charge, was found dead in his cell in the borough jail last night, hanging to the cell door by his belt.

The Tennessee river flows south through Tennessee into Alabama, then reverses itself to flow northward through Tennessee again and Kentucky.

Channel Crossing Is Halted

actually started his troops across the channel to storm the island Kingdom.

"On Sept. 16 many German troops were embarked but were later taken off ship," the news service declared, adding that the sea-borne invasion plans were "not adopted because of the sustained offensive of the Royal Air Force" on invasion ports along the German-held channel coast.

"After German troops were loaded onto their ships preparatory to braving the channel crossing, RAF bombers sped over and made their departure impossible by the ferocity of their attack," it was said.

Presumably, tens of thousands of German soldiers were embarked for the cross-channel assault. An RAF communiqué on Sept. 16 told of smashing at troop barges at Hamburg, Wilhelmshaven, Antwerp, Flushing, Ostend, Dunkerque, Calais, Boulogne and Le Havre.

Some estimates have placed the number of German troops massed along the invasion coast at more than 1,000,000.

Previously, reports seeping out of Nazi-occupied France and the Lowlands, brought to New York by refugees from the war area, have told of many thousands of German soldiers being drowned in the channel—either in "rehearsals" or in actual movements to invade England.

Along with the smashing of the Nazi invasion there, the Air Ministry's news service also reported that the RAF "master scheme" of bombing Germany had "partially wrecked several war factories in Berlin . . . Almost gutted the Berlin general post office. . . . Seriously affected rail and water transportation . . . and damaged great industrial plants over a wide area."

By contrast, Hitler's High Command has repeatedly insisted that the RAF was "planelessly" bombing the Reichland without hitting military objectives.

In today's communiqué, the Nazi High Command reported that German destroyers "advanced to sea battle at the exit of the Bristol channel" and attacked a British cruiser unit protected by destroyers, scoring a torpedo hit.

The German communiqué reported that British speedboats attempted to approach the Flanders coast, but were routed by Nazi coastal artillery, which also shelled a British convoy in Dover harbor.

British and German long-range guns blasted away at each other across the 22-mile strait of Dover today as bad weather hampered the rival aerial armadas. Firing through a heavy mist, the big British guns opened the duel after dawn, tossing shells into the Calais region. Several hours later, the Nazi cannon began retaliatory fire and salvos thundered from both sides at 20 minute intervals.

The British Air Ministry news service, amplifying its report on RAF damage inflicted in Germany, said that at the great north German port of Hamburg only seven out of the 75 giant cranes on the quay were left in operation after bombing attacks.

On the diplomatic front, Rome-Berlin Axis quarters dropped broad, synchronized hints that Spain will soon be used for an attempt to break Great Britain's 236-year-old command of Gibraltar, guardian rock of the Mediterranean.

The German air force gave London its longest night raid of the war during the night, striking with fast fighter-bombers whose effectiveness may force Britain to take the wraps off the vaunted new fighting planes she has been secretly developing in recent months.

The Liverpool dock area and an unnamed town in the industrial Midlands shared with London the brunt of the German overnight attacks.

A winter of intensified sea warfare was foreseen by the London press in the promotion of Vice Admiral John C. Tovey to command the British home fleet. Tovey, 55 years old, is a destroyer expert and is credited with having trained the destroyer crews in the Mediterranean which the British claim have scored notable successes against the Italian navy.

In the Far East attention was centered on the re-opening of the Burma Road, over which Chinese trucks loaded with war equipment were already rolling toward Chungking, capital of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's government.

Delayed advices from Hongkong, British crown colony, said that at the same time Britain withdrew a ban on shipment of gasoline, oil and railway materials by way of the colony to China. The ban on arms shipments remained, however.

McNary charged that "zealous third-term partisans had attempted to shake down" township committees of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration. In a speech prepared for Sedalia, he described as "frightening" the prospect of "rural Tammany-type organizations."
